

APR 7 1966

Hand Corp
VIETNAM

Corporations in Vietnam

A striking instance: Some 35 American companies currently are at work in Vietnam under Government contract, building harbors and airfields and setting up communications systems, among other things. In World War II, such work usually was done by the Seabees or other units of the armed forces. Rand Corp., a research firm, is interviewing Vietnamese villagers to determine the basic motivation of the Vietcong—a job performed in earlier wars by military intelligence men.